

Biographical Note

João d'Orey

João d'Orey

Founder and managing partner of Mínimos Quadrados – Research and Development, a SME in the field of data analytics, survey systems and development of management tools. Founder and executive director of the National Observatory of Human Resources (ONRH). Invited teacher at the University of Coimbra, where he teaches quality engineering, management processes and entrepreneurship.

Since 1995 he works as a consultant in quality management area and he is assessor of the Madeira Islands Regional Government for the coordination of the regional strategy for quality and the development of the recognition system of the quality and excellence of service.

In 2014 he was distinguished by the "Pessoal" magazine as one of the 25 more influential persons in the Human Resources Management in Portugal.