

Biographical Note

João Alves

---

João Alves

Has a degree in Environmental Engineering from the Faculty of Sciences and Technology of Universidade Nova de Lisboa since 2001.

At ATEC – Training Academy since 2004, he currently coordinates the area of Projects of Innovation and Quality Control. In this context, coordinates the internal quality management system and its performance measurement, manages the ISO and DGERT certification processes and coordinates innovation projects funded under various national and European programs.

Over the years he has also worked as a trainer, consultant and project manager in companies from various industrial and service sectors, namely at the level of financing projects, quality management, certification of training entities, working methods, and mapping, organization, optimization and measurement of processes performance.