

Biographical Note

Jorge Marques dos Santos

Jorge Marques dos Santos

Is a chemical engineer (University of Porto).

He is presently the President of CTCV - Centro Tecnológico da Cerâmica e do Vidro, a technological infrastructure for R&D, certification and innovation development in the sector of ceramic and glass.

He worked 15 years in the public sector as President of IAPMEI - Agency for Competitiveness and Innovation, and President of IPQ - Portuguese Institute for Quality.

He worked in the private sector since 1974, on high level management functions, first at COPAM, Companhia Portuguesa de Amidos and later in various business areas of the SONAE Group (the biggest Portuguese Economical Group).